- The Annie E. Casey Foundation Youth and Credit: Protecting the Credit of Youth in Foster Care aecf.org/resources/youth-and-credit

Suggestions for Classroom Activities Related to Identity Theft:

- Incorporate Privacy & Identity Theft fact sheets from the FTC's You Are Here campaign into your lesson plans. Titles include Identify Yourself and Mind Your Own Beeswax
- Have students look for newspaper articles or other stories about people who have been victimized by identity theft. Invite a guest speaker to talk about the problems associated with identity theft.
- Show the FTC video, Why Care About Identity Theft? Then start a discussion with your students. Include questions like:
 - What do you consider your personal information?

- Why is it important to protect your personal information?
- What can you do to protect your identity from being stolen?
- How can you tell if you're a victim of identity theft?
- What should you do if you're a victim of identity theft?
- Consider using identity theft lesson plans from other organizations, like Common
 Sense Education

Speaker Biographies

Hilary Hunt

hilary@makingcentspa.org

Hilary Hunt is a nationally recognized education consultant with fifteen years experience in the field of financial education. Her current consulting work ranges from curriculum development to research and program evaluation. Recent clients include Pennsylvania State University, The Heinz Endowments, Investor Protection Trust, and American Bankers Association.

Hilary served as director of the Pennsylvania Office of Financial Education under Governor Edward G. Rendell from its inception in 2004 until 2009. As director, Hilary oversaw the office's initiatives to increase the availability and quality of financial education in Pennsylvania's schools, communities, and workplaces. Hilary currently serves as president of the Pennsylvania Jump$tart Coalition and is a past member of the board of Junior Achievement of Central Pennsylvania.

Hilary began her career in education as a secondary mathematics teacher in Virginia. She moved to Pennsylvania to serve as the vice president of Program Development with Economics Pennsylvania and from there went on to work for the National Jump$tart Coalition for Personal Financial Literacy and the Foundation for Investor Education. Hilary holds a degree in mathematics from the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, VA and a masters in Education Entrepreneurship from the University of Pennsylvania. She resides in rural Adams County, Pennsylvania with her husband Wade, a middle school principal, and their two children.

John Abel jabel@attorneygeneral.gov

John Abel is a graduate of the University of Delaware and Dickinson School of Law. In addition to several years in the private practice of law, John has served in the Pennsylvania Office of Attorney General, Torts Litigation section in both Harrisburg and Norristown. He is currently a Senior Deputy Attorney General in the Bureau of Consumer Protection.

Colleen Tressler ctressler@ftc.gov

Colleen Tressler is a senior project manager in the Federal Trade Commission's Division of Consumer and Business Education. Colleen's career in the consumer affairs and education arena spans more than 30 years. During that time, she has taken an especially active role in helping to educate consumers about issues that affect their financial well-being. Colleen is responsible for planning, developing, and implementing creative, practical, plain-language, mission-related campaigns. Some of Colleen's most successful national campaigns deal with consumer credit, identity theft, and privacy issues.

Colleen serves on the Board of Directors for the Jump$tart Coalition for Personal Financial Literacy and the Credit Abuse Resistance Education (CARE) program. Colleen holds a B.S. in Program Management and Consumer Studies from the University of Maryland, and a Masters in Administrative Science from the Johns Hopkins University.

Tim Ranzetta

tim@nextgenpersonalfinance.org

Tim's saving habits started at seven when a neighbor with a broken hip gave him a dog walking job. Her recovery, which took almost a year, resulted in Tim getting to know the bank tellers quite well (and accumulating a savings account balance of over $300!). His recent entrepreneurial adventures have included driving a shredding truck, analyzing executive compensation packages for Fortune 500 companies and helping families make better college financing decisions. After volunteering in 2010 to create and teach a personal finance program at Eastside College Prep in East Palo Alto, Tim saw firsthand the impact of an engaging and activity-based curriculum, which inspired him to start a new non-profit, Next Gen Personal Finance.
